

What to Consider When Making Handmade CBD Products:

- How to adapt our relationship to nature when medicine-making so the intent of healing can be strengthened
- How to select the breed of a plant
- Researching the regulations in regard to the manufacturing of handmade products
- Where to source other ingredients and end-product
- How to apply the moon cycles to plant growth and why it is important
- How to price a product
- Using blessings over plants and products
- Holistic approach vs. corporate approach towards cannabis
- Our attitudes toward the creeping spirituality of the cannabis plant
- Maintaining safety, reliability, legality, and consistency
- Proving the potency and purity of a product, as the struggles of being consistent may vary with plants and crops